Workplace overview

Policies and strategies

Employer policies or strategies on workplace gender equality and the composition of the workforce can be powerful levers for making progress and change. Policies or strategies are most effective when supported by evidence-informed action plans to address areas of imbalance and inequality. Similarly, targets are achievable, time-framed goals that create mechanisms for accountability and are effective when combined with dedicated actions to help achieve them.

1.1 Do you have formal policies and/or formal strategies in place that support gender equality in the workplace?

Yes

Policy; Strategy

1.1a Do the formal policies and/or formal strategies include any of the following?

Recruitment; Retention; Performance management processes; Promotions; Training and development

1.2 Do you have a formal policy and/or formal strategy on diversity and inclusion in your organisation?

Yes

Policy; Strategy

1.2a Do the formal policies and/or formal strategies include any of the following?

Gender identity; Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander background; Cultural and/or language background; Disability and/or accessibility; Age; Other

Provide details: Socio-economic background, religious beliefs, marital or family status, sexual orientation

1.3 Does your organisation have any targets to address gender equality in your workplace?

Yes

Reduce the organisation-wide gender pay gap; Increase the number of women in management positions; Increase the number of men taking parental leave; To have a gender balanced governing body (at least 40% men and 40% women)

1.4 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to your gender equality policies and strategies, please do so below.

As the holding company, AUB Group is structured to empower businesses in which it holds partial ownership to operate independently. AUB typically acquires a majority shareholding in insurance intermediaries across Australia, with proprietors retaining responsibility for day-to-day management. Rather than directing internal policies, including those related to gender equality objectives, AUB supports each business to manage its own operations. Each business functions as a separate unit, and there is generally no direct career progression between individual businesses or to the holding company. Factors Creating Distortions in Reporting

1. Corporate group reporting rules - Under the WGEA definition, if one business provides a “no” response in the questionnaire section, the collective response is recorded as “no” across the entire Corporate Group, even if all other businesses would have responded “yes.”

2. Decentralised functions - AUB does not operate centralised human resources or payroll functions across all businesses, including those within the WGEA Corporate Group. Workplace profile information and gender-related policies are managed independently within each business.

3. No authority to mandate or monitor gender equality strategies - While AUB shares a unified Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Policy, businesses within the network are not required to adopt or implement group gender equality strategies. AUB does not have the authority to monitor compliance across all businesses. Non-AUB shareholders influence each business’s employee and workplace strategies, including those relating to gender equality. As a result, policies or initiatives established at the AUB level, although shared, may not always be adopted at the partner company level.

4. Gender composition of subsidiary boards - The gender composition of CEO roles and board positions within each business is determined by shareholding structures. This limits the effectiveness of setting gender composition targets across the Corporate Group.

Workplace overview

Governing bodies

Gender balance on governing bodies or boards is good for business. It contributes to workplace gender equality outcomes and improved company performance more broadly. Measures to support gender balance on the governing body include analysing the gender representation of chairs and other members, considering gender in the selection of board members, and taking action to drive change through term limits, targets and policies.

1.6 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to governing bodies and gender equality in your workplace, do so below.

Action on gender equality

Gender pay gaps

The gender pay gap is the difference in average or median earnings between women and men. It is a measure of how we value the contribution of women and men in the workforce. The gender pay gap is not to be confused with women and men being paid the same for the same, or comparable, job – this is equal pay. Equal pay for equal work is a legal requirement in Australia. However, illegal instances of unequal pay can still be one of the many drivers of the gender pay gap. Closing the gender pay gap is important for Australia's economic future and reflects our aspiration to be an equal and fair society for all.

Employee support for parents and carers

Paid parental leave

Parental leave policies are designed to support and protect working parents around the time of childbirth or adoption of a child and when children are young. Some employers offer universally available parental leave policies, offering equal parental leave for all parents, others offer with a distinction between 'primary' and 'secondary' carers. It's important that the policy is available to all parents, irrespective of gender, recognising the equally important role of all parents in caregiving. Gender equal policies help to de-gender the ideal worker and carer norms, which pervade the workplace and reduce opportunities for women to remain in, or re-enter the workforce.
